DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-8, drawn to a method of estimating carrier frequency offset error from a probability density function wherein the estimate of the carrier frequency offset is a minimum variance unbiased estimator.
  - II. Claims 9-12, drawn to a method of estimating carrier frequency offset error from the expected value of the autocorrelation of the kth entry of an observation vector wherein the estimate of the carrier frequency offset is a moment estimator.
  - III. Claims 13-19, drawn to a method of estimating carrier frequency offset error by selecting a ML estimator, a MVU estimator, or a moment estimator based on an observation vector, and generating the estimate of the carrier frequency offset from the selected estimator.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions III and I, as well as inventions III and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombinations as claimed as evidenced by the lack of details in claim 13 regarding the generation of a probability density function, as recited in claims 1 and 5, and the lack of details in claim 13 regarding the generation of the expected value of the autocorrelation of the  $k$ th entry of the observation vector, as recited in claims 9 and 11. The subcombinations each have separate utility such as being used in frequency estimation processes that only possess a MVU estimator or a moment estimator, respectively, without the selection of one of a group of three estimators based on the observation vector.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group III is not required for either of Groups I or II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: Group I and Group II (see above).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claims are generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 2634

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

5. A telephone call was made to Ian Hughes on 6/23/03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
